So, I am glad to welcome everyone.

You are on the YouTube channel “Prohnozy ta Maibutnie”.

With Veronika Bulavina, the traditional host of this channel, I am glad to welcome everyone.

Especially glad to welcome our today's guest, who debuted last week and caused a very-very great favor among subscribers.

Serhii Kabud — historian, esotericist, a person who knows a lot.

Greetings, Mr. Serhii.

I greet you. I greet all our viewers. I greet Ukrainians.

Glory to Ukraine! Glory to the heroes! We will start.

Let us start with what is happening in Ukraine now.

It is clear that you are in America, and we have a difference in climate with you.

Today across the country there is terrible news: storms that tear off roofs, overturn cars, blow them away with the wind.

Terrible bad weather covered Kryvyi Rih. Hurricane wind tore off the roof right onto the cars.

The weather, as it seems to me, is already raging taking into account what is happening.

Many people talked about this earlier with other masters and speakers.

It is interesting to listen to your opinion: why is this happening? Is this a feature of this year, or does the war directly affect the weather and nature? And is humanity involved in this at all?

It is clear that it is involved. What will happen next? What climatic changes should we prepare for? How bad is it for us now? The floor is yours.

Thank you. I would like to calm our viewers, because we have heard a lot about the so-called global warming.

I want to tell one story. I heard it from my mother a very long time ago.

Mom worked in one of the academic institutes in Ukraine and knew many such things.

She told that the Soviet government was going to sell a huge amount of gas to Europe. For this they needed to promote it somehow.

And they invented the myth of global warming. They planned to show that when burning gas for electricity production, very little CO_2 is released, and on this they were going to build a campaign for the sale of gas.

An interesting point, isn't it?

It was back when I was a child. Later, about years ago, there was a big campaign on this topic, in which Andrii Larionov took part — a Moscow figure who built the economic system for Putin.

He quoted a lot of scientific works and claimed that no warming is happening.

Regarding the climate in Ukraine. I have friends-mathematicians who worked with problems of hydrodynamics of the earth, soils and rivers.

They told that all specialists in Ukraine are absolutely convinced: the climate in Ukraine is distorted not due to external reasons, but due to the construction of numerous artificial seas on the Dnipro.

These seas accumulate water, accumulate heat and completely destroy our climate. The destruction occurs gradually.

I want to note that once the Kyiv climate was considered resort. I personally heard from people that those who had, for example, malaria, moving to Kyiv, were cured. These are facts.

Therefore, I think that our climate needs correction. The climate in Ukraine depends much more on the local situation with these same seas.

It is hard to imagine whether they will ever be drained. But something needs to be done, and I think it will be done.

Compared to the States: I am now on the east coast, New York is located much south of Kyiv.

However, the climate here is not so tropical. There is hot summer.

This year, I must comment, it is colder than usual. Today the day is more or less warm, and yesterday it was cool.

We can continue with another topic.

Well, if you allow, then of course we can. Thank you.

Zelenskyi sent Trump an urgent letter with a warning about the critical shortage of anti-missile defense of Ukraine. Kyiv Independent reports about this.

Let us figure out what this may indicate, what it will end with, what consequences.

How are we now in general with Trump and with America in those relations when we can talk about what we need?

We see how the American side confidently says that it wants to exit the negotiation process. But it turns out that we still cannot do without America. Can we? What do you think?

I want to remind one more news. It seems I read yesterday that the Federal Republic of Germany received or is already receiving a license for the production of PEC for Patriots, and this will be primarily oriented for us.

Also I want to note the concept of “fog of war” according to the German classic of military affairs Clausewitz.

During the war, any information should be considered unreliable, because the situation changes quickly, especially on the theater of military operations.

And now the theater of military operations in the first place is the information sphere. All participants try to disinform, “zali pukhy” are constantly launched (a very apt term).

Zalipukha is a thought virus that gets stuck in thinking. Therefore, information should be treated very carefully.

In general, two principles: believe the leadership, believe in victory and perform your duties. Otherwise we can make a mistake.

Constantly there are statements from our leadership and specialists that by the end of the year Ukrainians will already be manufacturing their own analogue for shooting down enemy ballistics.

The United States takes the position of an arbiter who will decide how this war should end. President Trump positions himself as the “main boss”.

All the rhetoric boils down to the fact that the USA is the strongest player and they must decide how the war will end, and their “neutrality” is emphasized. This is absolute disinformation.

The central problem is the threat of nuclear war. The position of the USA is a special positioning with the aim to shift the discourse and solve the problem by non-military means, gradually promoting it into the global world consciousness.

The Internet makes it possible to broadcast any news immediately into the pocket of every inhabitant of the planet. These are absolutely new conditions for conducting war. This war is probably the first world information war.

Therefore, one should adhere to information hygiene and turn on analytical thinking.

Absolutely.

Today, while preparing for the broadcast, I came across the thought that until there is national unity, we will not defeat the enemy.

At the same time I read the news that the SBU detained a cleric of the UOC MP, who is suspected of directing Iskanders to Odesa in March of last year. Then more than people were injured, there were civilian deaths.

It is hard to recall this. It does not fit in the head: we say “Ukraine above all”, put on a cassock, go to the temple, and then it turns out that the person cooperates with the enemy.

Is national unity possible in such a case? What should happen in Ukraine? How quickly should it happen? After all, war is a long process.

Yes, these are big problems. The best way to characterize this problem is the term “fifth column” — supporters of the enemy inside the country. This always exists. There is counterintelligence and law enforcement agencies.

Regarding unity, I would like to recall Ukrainian history. Approximately then citizen Yanukovych visited the embassy of the United States and gave a big interview.

It was his first contact with the USA, after which Paul Manafort appeared in Ukraine. He brought into our politics the technology: surveys, focus groups, electoral map of Ukraine.

At that time politics all over the world was conducted in a confrontational way. In Ukraine it looked like “regions against Ukraine”. Such a model does not suit us because of the constant threat of external invasion.

As soon as Lenin came to power in 1917, in a week or two he officially declared war on the Ukrainian People's Republic. This was practically the first international act of the Bolsheviks.

Starting approximately from 2017–2018, our strategists began to think about how to change the paradigm. In 2018, two mega surveys and many focus groups were conducted.

As a result, the model “single democratic candidate, single democratic party” was formed. This became the ideological basis of candidate Zelenskyi and the Servant of the People party.

The main idea is to break the confrontation “East against West”, in which Russia pulls the East.

Zelenskyi's candidacy was ideal: enormous popularity in Russia, Russian-speaking audience. The strategists hoped that this would help de-escalation.

The war united people even more. Now the vast majority of Ukrainians are united by the intention to win and protect sovereignty. Rotten apples will always be, counterintelligence is for this.

Sviatlana Tsikhanouskaya visited Kyiv at the beginning of the week against the background of talks about the need to maximally strengthen the northern border and prepare for a possible offensive from the side of Belarus.

Do the Russians really open a new front and will the summer be hot in the figurative sense?

I understand, this question worries many. I would like to remind about the great successes of the Armed Forces of Ukraine in recent weeks.

Today there was news that in the south, in the Kherson region, Russians are losing positions, Ukrainians are going on the offensive. Also successful long-range strikes.

It seems that the Russians are trying to compensate for defeats and are promoting the topic of an offensive from Belarus. This is a constant threat, but their resources are doubtful.

The defense forces perfectly understand the situation. Most likely, this is only intimidation.

Tsikhanouskaya's visit is symbolic. We demonstrate support for the Belarusian opposition. The threat from Belarus is mostly propaganda.

But in the information space there will be escalation. We cannot be intimidated. We have enough weapons, forces and allies.

enough weapons, forces and allies.

We keep constant contact through back channel. According to Sun Tzu's principle, all wars are won only by methods of deception. And this war will be won by us exactly like that.

God grant that it be so, Mr. Serhii.

Volodymyr Zelenskyi said today that the war will not end very quickly. According to sources, he instructed to prepare for two-three years of war.

Angela Merkel also spoke on this, that in two-three years the war, I hope, will end, and Ukraine will be an independent, free, sovereign country.

Why do these statements coincide now? Is the war really going to last very long, perhaps more than three years?

I would like to draw the attention of our viewers to the comments that Yurii Ivanovych Khanurov makes from time to time. He says that even if military actions are stopped now, this war will not end.

While the regime founded by Lenin in 1917 and continued by Putin exists, we are under threat. This regime is built on the idea of capturing neighbors and the whole world. They have not changed this program.

Victory for us will mean the cancellation of this regime. We must work to bring to power in Russia structures that will not threaten us.

In the future, the territory of the Russian Federation, most likely, will be under the influence of three centers: the Far East — Japan, the south-eastern and middle part — China and Turkey, the western part — under the influence of Kyiv.

This is the only construction that will guarantee that the region will no longer be a source of constant bloody wars.

Therefore, when the president talks about a long war, this is the correct position. We are entering a situation similar to the Israeli one, but better, because our enemy is only in one direction. This disciplines the nation.

A few more topics. The Russians are preparing additional mobilization. At the same time, the Armed Forces of Ukraine are retreating on the Zaporizhzhia and Dnipropetrovsk directions.

What is happening? Is this a redeployment? What will the summer be like?

The situation in the south has changed. Most likely, Ukraine will carry out operations.

The enemy's rhetoric is an attempt to compensate for losses. I see no grounds for serious concerns.

Moscow seeks escalation, but all instruments except nuclear weapons have already been used. The probability of using nuclear weapons is very low.

Finally: our drones are already flying in the area of Crimea. What is the fate of Crimea? Is its return possible and by what path?

Crimea is Ukraine. It always was and is.

Ukrainian forces can destroy any object there at any time. Supply lines are half-destroyed. The land corridor is under fire.

In the near future, the Armed Forces of Ukraine may receive long-range air-to-air missiles. Then we will be able to carry out an operation in the south and cut the enemy grouping into Crimea and Donbas.

It will be a strong moral blow. Further — successful operations in Donbas. The grouping in Crimea will be cut off and forced to evacuate or will be destroyed.

The most difficult will be the Ukrainization of Crimea — creating conditions for the departure of the anti-Ukrainian element in order to avoid repressions. The experience of the USA with the deportation of illegals can be useful.

The summer will be determined by the events around Iran. The USA conducted successful negotiations with the Arab countries of the region and separately with Israel. The price of oil is falling.

If the USA completes the operation in Iran, we will greatly weaken the regime in the Russian Federation. This is very beneficial for us.

Mr. Serhii, thank you for today's broadcast, for the information, for the energy, for being fully immersed in the conversation.
